November 6, 2016

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am pleased to recommend Adrian Ababei to you for a senior web development position in Drupal / PHP. Adrian has contracted for Impetus Digital for over 2 years now in a full-stack Drupal role, and has been invaluable in the development of our sleek private client portals (the Impetus InSite Platform™), as well as in the development of a variety of internal web marketing initiatives.

Adrian is thorough, consistent, and multitalented. He can invariably take functional requirements — be them vague and limited, or tedious and lengthy — and turn a solution around rapidly. Because of his extensive development experience and swift nature, he has one of the fastest turnaround times of any developer I have ever worked with. He would be an asset to any fast-paced agile team.

Specifically, Adrian has lead us in the successful implementation of the following major features and configurations for our platform:

- Custom form components using Drupal Webforms
- Comprehensive form data graphing and intuitive tabulation for real-time analysis/reporting
- Custom implementation of user points/leaderboard functionality
- Custom implementation of user switching functionality for role/permissions testing

- Form submission API for data sharing between sites
- Custom landing pages and mobile responsive styling
- Recursive permissions testing to ensure legitimacy of our private platform
- SAML/SSO integration
- HTTPS/SSL configuration

Based on the attributes and experiences I've outline above, I can enthusiastically recommend Adrian Ababei to you for any senior web development position in Drupal / PHP. If you need any further details, please feel free to contact me at 647-637-5758 or mcorrigan@impetusdigital.com.

Regards,

Mark Corrigan
Product Manager
Impetus Digital